

GWS signs partnership agreement with Lingmerths Resebyrå AB

Global Warning System (GWS) has signed a partnership agreement with Lingmerths Resebyrå AB - a major travel agency located in southern Sweden. Lingmerths will integrate the Safeture family of services, including, Safeture Go, Safeture Pro, and Safeture Pro+, to their product offering. The business model is a distributor re-sell partnership.

The GWS service, Safeture, is a personal security service, which provides critical alerts and information about natural disasters, accidents, outbreaks of disease, political unrest, crime, economic instability, and travel delays. Alerts are sent in real-time, directly to the users' smartphone, providing peace of mind to travelers. Lingmerths offers travel solutions for both leisure and business, as well as, corporate clients and government agencies. The agreement with GWS includes the re-selling of the Safeture product family, (Safeture Go, Safeture Pro, and Safeture Pro+). The product offering will be available for Swedish business customers and leisure travelers.

Peter Eklund, VD at Lingmerths Resebyrå AB, comments:

"We are very excited to partner with GWS, as their offering fits our philosophy of providing travelers peace of mind through innovation. We are committed to providing the best travel experience to our clients, and through this partnership, we can strengthen our proposition to clients. We also see an expectation for greater traveler protection coming from our clients, and our partnership with GWS is in response to this trend."

GWS has been successful in methodically signing contracts within targeted segments. Through this contract with Lingmerths, GWS will further penetrate the travel segment and consolidate a position as a leading provider of modern and personal travel security.

Andreas Rodman, CEO at GWS, comments:

"We are very happy to cooperate with Lingmerths, a respected travel agency in Sweden, whose business customers fit perfectly into our target group. The Safeture family was designed for travelers, and this contract is further proof that we offer an attractive service for the travel business."
