Peter Nilsson, Kitron's CEO, comments:

- This is the highest second quarter revenue in Kitron's history.
- Financial results increase our confidence in the 2018 outlook and our strategic ambitions of Revenues of NOK 3 billion and an EBIT margin of 7 per cent in 2020.
- Gratifying to make progress in the face of industry-wide issues with component availability. This is a testament to our robust supply chain.
- The second quarter showed record levels of future prospects with growth of 60 per cent compared to last year in the new quote pipeline.
- The oil and gas market sector shows signs of recovery, and we expect significant improvement from 2019.

Effective actions to counter component shortages

- Shortages of electronic components challenges Electronics Manufacturing Services business continues.
- The situation is expected to prolong into 2019
- Kitron works closely with its customers to alleviate the situation
- Kitron's timely and systematic approach combined with its preferred partner program has prevented serious supply disruptions.
- Deliberate and temporary inventory build-up to avoid supply disruptions
