Aino HealthManager is live with ArcelorMittal

Aino Health’s IT platform HealthManager has gone live to support ArcelorMittal’s operations in Neuwied, Germany. This is a joint implementation project with ArcelorMittal and Aino Health that is comprised of process definition, technical IT integration, training of management as well as communications.

- Aino Health has now proven that its solutions are fit for the German market, and we expect significant results both from ArcelorMittal and next customers who are also planned to go live soon, says Peter Seeger, Managing Director at Aino Health GmbH.
